Washington, Aug. 21 (P)—Russia has protested the proposed American-British-French conferences on raising the level of German industry.

Official United States sources acknowledged this today, but did not disclose the reasons the Soviets gave for their objection.

It is understood, however, that Russia claims the plans for the conference would nullify terms of the Potsdam Agreement holding down German industrial productivity.

The conference is scheduled to open in London Friday as part of a joint Anglo-American attempt to strengthen the economic affairs of the western world to speed recovery.

Red Relations Bad

Even before this development, the United States apparently was ready to write off—in favor of a new approach—attempts to reach agreement with Russia on Korea and Austria.

This impending development stands out against a Library of Congress report declaring that relations between this country and the Soviet Union have deteriorated "dangerously."

In the case of Korea, Foreign Minister Molotov thus far has failed even to acknowledge Secretary of State Marshall's proposal for a re-examination of the deadlocked efforts to set up a unified government for that country.

Marshall set today as the deadline for report from the stalemated Soviet-American joint commission at Seoul. He told Molotov in a note last week that if this showed the two powers could not agree on a provisional regime to take the place of the separate occupation zones it was time to decide whether to call off the negotiations which started three months ago.

Reds Stalling

Meanwhile the chief American representative on the four-power treaty commission which has been trying even longer to settle disputes over a peace treaty for Austria was due to leave Austria today for consultations in Washington.

Robert A. Lovett, Undersecretary of State, used diplomatic language to say in effect that Joseph M. Dodge had been recalled because the Russians were stalling at Vienna.

Dodge, chief of the American delegation in the Austrian capital, has repeatedly criticized Soviet tactics ever since the treaty commission started work May 12 at the direction of the Big Four Foreign Ministers.

Jap Girls Rush To Wed Yanks To Beat Immigration Deadline

Yokohama, Aug. 21 (P)—Eager little Japanese girls made an eleven-hour rush to marry American husbands and beat the deadline for entry into the "fabulous" United States.

Midnight tonight ends the one-month period during which the U. S. Congress lifted the ban on Japanese immigration to enable war veterans to marry and take home girls met in this occupied country.

In most cases, Nisei soldiers (American-born Japanese) were marrying the Japanese girls, but there was a sprinkling of white civilians—perhaps 30, who had asked to be discharged from the army here to take occupations jobs rather than their Oriental sweethearts.

The most talked-about marriage during the period was that of former Lt. Frank White of Somerset, Pa.,

Mother, Baby Electrocuted In Bath Tub

Salt Lake City, Aug. 21 (P)—A 22-year-old mother and her 14-month-old daughter were killed when a small table model radio apparently fell or was pulled accidentally into a bath tub in which the two were bathing last night.

Dr. Clarence R. Openshaw, Salt Lake City physician, said Mrs. Norman Waagen was electrocuted, while the baby possibly died from a combination of drowning and electrocution.

Dr. Openshaw said he believed the baby pulled the electric cord on the radio, causing it to fall into the water.

CONSUMPTION OF WATER JUMPS

Judging by the records of the Gettysburg Water company Tuesday was the hottest day of the year.

At least on that day local residents used the largest quantity of water in any 24 hours during the current year, - 785,000 gallons.

The average consumption of water during the present summer is 670,000 gallons per day. Earl C. Schwalm, manager of the local company said, and the average daily use during winter months is 583,000 gallon.

However the use of water this month has fallen below last August. With hot weather prevailing in even higher temperatures than this year last August saw the daily water usage climb into the 700,000 gallon standard frequently.

A peak of 798,000 gallons was noted on August 6 a year ago. 793,000 gallons were used August 1, 1946; 788,000 gallons on August 20 last year and last August 30 the town used 712,000 gallons.

Fag Bootlegging Is "Curtailed"

Harrisburg, Aug. 21 (P)—Transports of untaxed cigarettes across Pennsylvania's line has been "cut down considerably" by initial seizures in the Philadelphia area, the Revenue Department reported today.

W. H. Beachy, deputy secretary of revenue and head of the Bureau of Collections, said "the publicity given the first seizures" reduced the practice and few arrests have been made since that time.

A new law makes it a misdemeanor to possess 200 cigarettes on which the state tax of four cents a pack—it was doubled July 1—has not been paid, while another law authorizes Pennsylvania state police to search vehicles without a warrant.

In addition to the seizures made in Philadelphia, Beachy said state police have confiscated a number of cartons of untaxed cigarettes in western Pennsylvania.

"They are still watching the borders," he added.

Freak Chicken Lays First Egg

New York, Aug. 21 (P)—Mabel Brooklyn's famous barred Plymouth rock hen with the four legs and the double-barreled egg laying apparatus, has brought forth her first egg.

The five-month-old freak was first exhibited some weeks ago by its owner, Murray Weiss, causing much surprise among poultrymen. Besides four legs, Mabel has two vents for egg laying instead of the normal one.

Weiss, in announcing the first egg, added that there is another one on the way in vent No. 2, indicating that Mabel may grow up to produce twice as many eggs as a normal chicken.

Weiss failed to mention whether Mabel's first egg was double-yolked.

ULTIMATUM TO JEW REFUGEES

London, Aug. 21 (P)—Britain handed an ultimatum today to 4,400 Jewish refugees aboard three British ships off southern France, ordering them to disembark by 12 noon EST tomorrow or be transported to Germany.

A Foreign Office announcement said that if the Jews declined to go ashore, "the ships will sail for the British zone of Germany where their passengers will be immediately disembarked."

The refugees, who are without visas for Palestine, were intercepted by British craft off the Holy Land coast as they tried to evade the British blockade last month in the vessel called "Exodus 1947." They were placed aboard the three British ships and returned on July 29 to France, where they began their voyage.

They have been off the town of Port de Bouc, refusing to disembark ever since.

(Jews aboard the ships said last night they would go on a hunger strike if they were not permitted to enter Palestine.)

The foreign office announcement said the refugees—most of whom are of Polish nationality—had been offered hospitality by the French government but rejected it "under the influence of persistent Zionist threats and propaganda."

"It is clearly impossible to leave the three British transports indefinitely in French waters," the announcement continued, "and it has therefore been decided that, unless the Jews begin to disembark before 5 p. m. GMT (noon EST) August 22, the ships will sail for the British zone of Germany, where their passengers will be immediately disembarked."

"This is the only territory under British jurisdiction outside Cyprus (where the British have detention camps for Jews who tried and failed to sail to the blockade) where such a large number of people can be adequately housed and fed at short notice."

The announcement was issued simultaneously in Palestine, by British authorities in Berlin and at Paris and Marseille in France.

Miss Phyllis Louise Hahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice W. Hahn, Emmitsburg, and George Franklin Dickey, son of Mrs. Grace A. Dickey, Greenbelt, Md., were married Saturday at Tom's Creek Methodist church, near Emmitsburg. The Rev. W. DeWitt Dickey, Walkersville, Md., brother of the bridegroom and the Rev. DETROIT, Aug. 21 (P)—Mrs. Grace Kluger, who "really only wanted one dozen eggs," got 26 dozen of them scrambled on her front lawn and 25 pounds of butter as well, she told Traffic Judge John M. Wise yesterday.

She reported she haled Albert S. Miller, a butter and egg salesman, from her front door. Catching her signal, he swung his truck around for the sale, but hit another car and overturned on the Kluger lawn, spilling his load.

The judge found Miller guilty of reckless driving and fined him $25.

Furs caught in the United States in 1930 were valued at $70,000,000.

STATE HIGHWAY KNOCKS ACME 9 FROM PLAYOFFS

The State Highway qualified as a finalist in the playoffs for the championship of the Community Softball league Wednesday evening by defeating the Acme on the high school field 6-1.

Victory over the Acme was particularly sweet to the highway-men whose lone regular league season defeat was at the hands of the storekeepers. The win was the second in as many games for the Highway in the three-game series with the Acme.

This evening the Moose and Texas Lunch will clash in the second of their three-game semi-final series. The Moose won the opener 10-9.

Homer For Shoop

The Highway had comparatively easy sailing in winning Wednesday evening, a homerun by Eddie Shoop in the sixth preventing George Fair from gaining a shutout.

In the opening inning the Highway tabbed a run on an error, and a scratch hit by Stambaugh.

Hits by G. Hankey and Donaldson accounted for another run in the third.

An error, safeties by Stambaugh and Donaldson, and a fielder's choice produced three runs for Manager Lightner's clan in the fifth and put the clincher on the game.

The final run in the sixth was the result of an error and a hit by Gorman.

Sports Roundup

BY FRITZ HOWELL

(For HUGH FULLERTON, JR.)

Vandalia, O., Aug. 21 (P)—Trap-shoot topics:

Gofers do on telling long tales of how they missed the short putt, and fishermen will flog your ears for hours about the big one that got away—but you should hear these Grand American trapshooters moan and wail about how they muffed a crucial target.

There are hundreds of ways of missing 'em, and Jack Mitchell of Bridgeport, Conn., as a Remington representative has been compelled to listen to long stories about all of them. And listening to those tales takes a lot of time.

So Jack has a stunt which he is willing to pass along to friends of golfers and fishermen, a stunt guaranteed to cut down the listening time. He has fixed up a long list of all the alibis, excuses and reasons for missing targets, each one numbered. Some have sub-divisions, which are lettered. He passed them out to all shooters, so all the marksman has to do is step up to Mitchell and say:

"Three, seven and nine—;" — and Jack has the whole story in a nutshell.

Mitchell is working on a "headnodding device," to be worked from his pocket, which he'll operate as he listens to a short tale, thus slashing his listening time to practically nothing and allowing him to get some work done.

Locke To Compete In Reading Tourney

Reading, Pa., Aug. 21 (P)—Bobby Locke, money winning South African golfer star, will compete in the $10,000 Reading Open at the Berkshire country club Oct. 2-5.

Locke, who said he has deferred his planned return to his home in South Africa in order to take part in the Reading play, teamed with Jimmy Thompson, Los Angeles pro, yesterday to defeat Henry Poe and Johnny Weitzel, 2 and 1, in an exhibition game at the Reading country club.

Locke posted a 72 while Poe, of the Reading club, had a 73. Thompson, pro-operator of the Manor golf club at nearby Fritztown, carded 74 and was not destined to set any college conference gridiron fires this season.

Definitely, the Mount does not place emphasis on football. And even the coaching of the backfield star of New York Giants pro eleven will be unable to make pigs in history, with a short-short schedule of only three games, loss of collegiate stars through academic floundering and no scholarship players.

Officially interviewed last weekend by Mount grads, Coach Filipowicz, currently managing the Sunbury baseball club of the Inter-State league, asked more questions about his coaching to be assumed September 8, than he emitted answers. Will Use "T"

"Flip" did say he intends to inaugurate the "T" formation system. The transition from previous single and double-wing employed by Acting Coach Wally Opekin and its prospective success under Filipowicz, is the topic of the day for Mount St. Mary's supporters.

The new coach will have about a week to study his work in moulding "simon-pures" before the opening of the college.

Indicated by applications for enrollment, are a turnout of 100 or more candidates for the Mountaineers' moleskin eleven. The squad will be large and green. Many youngsters who did not show up for 1946 grid work at

Today's Talk

POLIO GAINS: TOTAL LOWEST IN FIVE YEARS

CONFIDENCE

It seems to me that the basis of all associations, contacts, and business relationships, as well as friendships, is confidence. Take it in our national life. If the people do not trust their elected representatives, they defeat them at the proper moment. The reason why the entire world is in the mess that it is, is because of lack of confidence.

If the nations of this earth would have confidence in one another, there would never be any more fear of war. States would thrive and people would be happy. There is a right way to work everything out, but nothing can be worked out when there are those in the world who refuse to have confidence in anyone. What a sad state of affairs, when one nation is placed in the position where it can block the way to peace in the world! What is the matter with the rest of the world when such a thing is allowed?

What a precious asset is this confidence! How easy it is to gain the confidence of a wild animal just so soon as that animal is convinced you are its friend. If a dumb brute recognizes this force of confidence as so essential, then why not man, the highest form (so-called) of intelligence? Why shouldn't he use it as his one path to his most cherished desire, or objective?

We can forgive and overlook so much in that one in whom we have confidence. It's like that word "Sterling" on silver. When you see it you desire no further evidence of its worth or purity. Some people's faces, and the products of many firms, have that word confidence stamped right on them. It may be invisible in many cases, but there it is, and it is known that it is there!

If I have confidence in my friend that is enough. We can weather things together. We can give and take. We can go along as human beings, understanding each other. We must establish this confidence in ourselves, and then distribute it! The salesman must have it, and so must his prospective client, or customer. We must all have it. And radiate it. Confidence is the product of faith. But we all need both!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Songs of the Wind."

Same old cry: "The water's fine!" Same old sad excuses mine. Grandpa now is much too old; Thinks the water may be cold. Yours is joy denied to him. Grandpa never learned to swim.

"Take a belly-smacker?" No! Should have done that long ago. "Do the dead-man's float like you?" Never learned that trick to do. Now the dismal truth to state: It is sixty years too late.

Glad to sit here in the sun. Simply watching you have fun. Hearing shrieks of pure delight. Everything is quite all right. Grandpa! Pay no heed to him. Happy he to see you swim.

found it necessary to take unusual precautions during the sudden upsurge. Swimming pools have been closed in Wilmington, Del., and swimming has been prohibited at a summer camp on Long Island Sound, Connecticut.

Furthermore, reports from 20 states which have figures on deaths available, show only 30 so far this year, compared with 338 in those same states a year ago, when the nation suffered its worst outbreak since 1918.

The AP's survey of the situation showed these further details:

Wisconsin has had only 46 cases this year, compared with 202 for the same period last year; Missouri has had only 42 against 380; Mississippi only 20 against approximately 200.

Pennsylvania has had 100 cases to date, against 85 for the same period in 1946.

And, in Southern Ohio's Pike county which has had six of the state's 109 cases, officials are watching the situation closely because of the distance from treatment facilities.

In New Jersey, new cases rose from five to 11 in a week.

Fall River, Mass., Aug. 21 (AP)—Senator Brewster (R-Me.) announced today that Republicans will not ask for an extension of the life of the senate war investigating committee beyond next January 31.

Brewster, who heads the controversially enveloped committee, told a reporter, "Under the congressional reorganization act, the standing committees should take over these investigations. We will be ready for that in January—in on November 17.

But the Maine senator, here to attend Fall River's celebration of "Joe Martin Day," said he and other Republicans have no intention of suggesting that the group, once headed by President Truman when the latter was a senator, continue its inquiries in the next session of Congress.

Senate democrats have made it plain they would fight any such move.

"It was never the intention to continue the special committee," Brewster told a reporter. "Under the congressional reorganization act, the standing committees should take over these investigations. We will be ready for that in January—in fact, our final report is already half drawn."

Praise Martin

Brewster, who touched off a Republican presidential political note in an otherwise largely non-partisan affair honoring Martin because of his elevation to the top job in congress as speaker, said there is "no doubt" that subcommittee hearing into the Hughes contracts will be resumed in November.

Despite efforts by local Democrats and some Republicans to make the celebration of "Joe Martin Day" strictly non-partisan, Brewster told 1,200 persons who ate clams and lobsters in a mammoth clambake that the "end may not be yet" for Martin's political ascent.

U.N. SECURITY "PARALYZED" BY RED VETOES

By HARRY HAUCK
(AP Foreign News Analyst)

Five Russian vetoes in the Security Council this week pointed up again the need for revision of the United Nations machinery.

The situation was viewed by Secretary-General Trygve Lie as a continuing one, "no more serious than a year ago," but Council Chairman Paris El Khoury frankly acknowledged that the Council was "paralyzed" by the veto.

In every one of the latest vetoes, which ran the Soviet string to 16, Andrei A. Gromyko killed a decision agreed to by nine of the 11 Council nations. Poland, as usual, supported Russia.

More important in the general picture than the mere 16 vetoes were the dozens of silent or unrecorded vetoes—the times when proposals never went to vote because Russia announced she would kill them.

Have 3 Courses

The entire question will be aired again in the September meeting of the General Assembly. Lie said. To meet the situation, the U.N. has roughly three courses of action:

1—Attempts could be renewed to remove or modify the veto, but these apparently are doomed in advance.

2—Nations could put pressure on Russia through world opinion to hold down on use of the special voting privilege granted by the charter to the Soviet Union, United States, Britain, France and China.

3—Delegates could press for a weighted system of voting in the 55-nation Assembly, where there is no veto, and gradually and quietly give the big body more prestige and power.

The first course cannot be considered seriously because Russia has said repeatedly that the veto must stay as it is. Neither does the United States want to give it up entirely because that would mean for one thing that America could be committed to a declaration of war by a Council vote regardless of the feelings of Congress and constitutional processes.

Unanimous Consent

The real answer to the first point of course lies in the charter itself, which must be changed to kill or modify the veto and which provides that any amendments shall be subject to unanimous approval of the five major powers.

Starting with last year's Assembly, attempts were made by the small nations to implement point two by exposing the frequent Russian vetoes to a thorough airing. This apparently had no effect on the Kremlin.

Until recently the United States and other nations in the Council majority consistently attempted to work out compromise proposals to satisfy Russia and avoid her veto. However, in the last stages of the Balkans debate the western powers abandoned this course and forced two strong resolutions to a vote with the apparent motive of making Gromyko veto again and again and thus subject his country to the glare of the world spotlight.

Pennsy's Revenue Situation Serious

Philadelphia, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Pennsylvania railroad's revenue situation—despite an all-time peak volume of peacetime business—is "serious," says Martin W. Clement, PRR president.

The railroad official, in a letter sent yesterday to all employees of the company, said that certain types of business which formerly produced one dollar in revenue for each 80 cents expended now cost the railroad dollar for dollar received.

"It is impossible for a railroad to continue to pay out more for wages, materials, more money for all costs of railroad living without receiving more from the public for the service it performs," said Clement.

TRAFFIC DEATHS DOWN IN STATE

Harrisburg, Aug. 21 (AP)—Traffic fatalities so far this year were down 12.5 per cent or 102 from the 813 persons who died on highways and streets of Pennsylvania in the first half of 1946.

The state Bureau of Highway Safety at the same time reported an increase of 31 in the number of traffic deaths in June this year over the corresponding month of 1946. There were 121 deaths for the 30-day period this year against 90 last year.

Deaths in rural areas dropped more sharply the first half of this year over last than in urban areas with 398 of the 711 occurring outside of cities and boroughs and 313 in urban centers.

The bureau also reported 49 pedestrians lost their lives in June, bringing the total for the first half of the year to 340 or 38 less than the corresponding period of 1946 and 105 less than the first half of 1941, the last pre-war year.

MOOSE CLOSE CONVENTION

Columbus, O., Aug. 21 (AP)—Thousands of delegates to the 59th International convention of the Loyal Order of Moose were homeward bound today as the convention closed with installation of officers and memorial services for departed members.

A crowd of 80,000 persons watched a dampened parade for more than an hour last night, after a heavy local shower forced spectators to seek shelter under awnings and marquees.

Benjamin A. Lenger of Pittsburgh, Pa., was to deliver the memorial address preceding installation of officers at the closing business session today.

F. Roy Yoke of Parkersburg, W. Va., took over his duties as supreme governor succeeding L. W. Ryan of Bedford, Pa.

The parade passed before James J. Davis, 74, director general of the Moose who is credited by its officers with being the man most responsible for the growth and success of the order. He is from Pittsburgh, Pa., a former U. S. senator, and former U. S. secretary of labor. Davis was stricken by heat Monday, but recovered.

PARADE PLANS OF VFW POST
TAKING SHAPE

The biggest parade Emmitsburg has ever had.

That is the hope of the Emmitsburg Veterans of Foreign Wars for their parade Saturday night, August 30, which will be a feature of the closing night of the six-day carnival planned by the post.

Meeting Wednesday evening at the post home, the various committees reported that three drum corps had been secured for the parade, that attempts are being made to have a contingent of soldiers and a Maryland National Guard band take part.

Invitations have been sent to 40 fire companies throughout Maryland to take part in the parade and an ammunition display trailer from Letterkenny Ordnance Depot has been secured for the procession.

Judges Named

Judges for the parade were named Wednesday night as First Sergeant May of the Maryland State Police, former Major Guy Anders, sheriff of Frederick county; Lt. Col. Lloyd E. Fellenz, commanding officer of Camp Detrick and Emmitsburg Burgess Thornton Rodgers.

The parade will form at the "doughboy" statue in the western part of town and will march through Main, Broad, and DePaul streets and Seton avenue before ending at the Emmitsburg public school grounds.

Drum corps taking part in the march will be the York Drum Corps, the York VFW Drum and Bugle Corps and the American Legion drum corps from the Harold Bair Post No. 14, of Hanover. The Susquehanna Marching unit of the Columbia fire company will also participate.

Entertainment Schedule

Special entertainment is scheduled for each evening of the carnival, according to the reports received Wednesday night. On Monday the 101 Ranch Boys will be present at the carnival; Tuesday evening a trained animal act will be the feature attraction; Wednesday, a drum and bugle corps; Thursday, the White Rose VFW Chorus of York; Friday, Sleepy McDaniels and His Radio Playboys.

Saturday the parade will be held at 6 o'clock in the evening. At 8 o'clock Saturday evening Bud Messner and His Saddle Pals will be the attraction at the carnival.

All members of the VFW are taking part in the committee in charge of the carnival with various members taking over posts at the carnival each evening during the week.

PREMIUM LISTS
FOR FREDERICK
FAIR SENT OUT

Sixty-five hundred premium lists for the Frederick County Fair have been mailed this week, the first batch going out Monday and the remainder today.

A welcome note to all potential exhibitors is the fact that premiums have been increased in all departments, household, livestock and pomological. The Maryland State Fair Board has allotted $10,000 to the Frederick County Agricultural Society to be used as prize money, an increase of $4,000 over last year's amount.

The premium lists are being distributed two weeks earlier than in 1946 in order to give the exhibitors more time to make up their entries. With the substantial increase in premiums in most classes the Fair Board officials feel that this year the household department classes will be filled.

Another drawing card for more exhibitors is the return to the exhibitor's ticket system in effect prior to 1946. Last year exhibitors were not charged a fee for entering displays and consequently received no exhibitor's ticket, being required to pay the straight daily admission.

This year the exhibitor buys a season ticket, which has attached to it coupons for each day of the Fair. Admission rates have been cut back

IS BEING BUILT AT EMMITSBURG

Emmitsburg's youngsters will have a new playground this fall. Work began this week on leveling the ground to the rear of the Cribbin Memorial high school for the playground which is being built by a committee headed by Dominick Greco, a professor at Mt. St. Mary's college.

The committee plans to install a baseball diamond, volley ball courts and outdoor baseball courts at the play center for the use of all of the youngsters and young people of the community.

Permission to use the land as a public playground was granted by the Sisters of Charity, who own the high school land. The playground will also be used by the youngsters who attend the school.

Chairman Greco said today that the committee is seeking funds to pay for the improvement. Some funds have already been donated, he said, but the amount turned in so far will not be sufficient to cover all of the expense.

Work of leveling the ground is being done by Samuel Hayes who has been utilizing a bulldozer the past few days to level off the ground.

MUCH INTEREST IN EDUCATION; U.S. EXPANSION

BY JERRY KORN

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—There is more interest in education in this country than ever before, authorities say.

Much of that interest can be traced to the war and to the troubled times which followed it.

The American people became interested in new fields of knowledge, like atomic energy.

Thousands more students enrolled at colleges and universities, mainly because of the G. I. Bill.

Educators thought more about using education to prevent future wars.

Congress became concerned about democracy and thought about education as one way to protect democracy in this country.

Reveals Results

All this interest in education had several results:

1. The United States office of education was one of the few government agencies to receive more money this year than it did last year—in fact, more than ever before—from a congress interested in economy.

2. Educators who thought Hitler's rise to power could be traced to faults in the German education system began to plan changes in the American system to prevent anything similar from happening here.

3. Colleges bulging with students had to decide whether to increase their size, or support the growth of new, small colleges.

4. States and communities tried to solve the problem of finding schools for the students the crowded colleges could not take.

Let's take those one at a time and see what they mean.

The office of education told congress it will use its additional money to increase education in the social sciences (the study of people), exact sciences (chemistry, for example—the study of things) and physical education.

"General Education"

That ties in with the second step, because many college officials think that if the Germans had learned things like the social sciences they might have been better citizens, with more political wisdom.

So more American colleges are trying to give students a "general education" so that even those studying engineering, for example, will have more knowledge of people, politics and other current matters.

Some educators say this process may grow until it changes the whole direction of American education, which before and during the war seemed to be concentrating more and more on specialized studies.

Finally, there has been a spreading movement toward stopping the growth of large colleges and substituting one of three plans:

1. "Residence extension centers," which are like branch colleges. The University of North Carolina, for example, is setting up regular college

SOFT DRINK TAX CLIMBS SHARPLY

Harrisburg, Aug. 21 (P)—Pennsylvania's taxes on soft drinks, cigarettes and beer brought in $6,356,000 in July with returns from the new levy on bottled and fountain drinks climbing sharply.

The state Revenue Department reported the penny tax on every 12 ounces of bottled drinks and a half cent on every ounce of syrup brought in $1,621,000 in July against nominal returns of only $365,000 for June, the first month it was effective.

The doubled levy on cigarettes—it was boosted from two to four cents a package—raised $2,751,000 or $500,000 more than in June while the tax on malt beverages, also doubled by the 1947 Legislature, brought in another $2,948,000.

To Meet Expectations

"The malt beverage tax is doing wonderfully well and has brought in more than $2,000,000 above estimates in June and July," commented George A. Nally, Revenue Department comptroller. "It is a little too early to make any definite forecast, but the new tax program looks as if it will meet expectations."

The soft drink levy, estimated to return $35,000,000 in two-year period ending May 31, 1949, has brought in nearly $2,000,000 so far with the bulk of the returns coming in last month.

"August and September should be better criterions," Nally said.

He also noted that the cigarette levy was running approximately $500,000 behind estimates but said the jump in beer tax receipts more than cancelled that.

"A lot of people stocked up before the new tax went on and when their supplies are exhausted returns will go up," he added.

Better Education

2. Public Junior Colleges—which offer the first two years of college free, as part of the regular public school system.

3. Private Junior Colleges supported partly by money from the states or towns in which they are located.

All of these plans together, educators hope, may result in more education and better education for Americans.

Chapter 19

If Hardin and Cady were surprised at each other's words, Doug, hidden in a pocket of firs and underbrush, was almost overcome. He sank down on the stump of a once-giant hemlock, trying to assemble his jumbled thoughts. The brief conversation between the boss logger and the owner of the White Rapids Company had demolished his firmly built-up convictions as effectively as dynamite uproots a stubborn pine stump.

The two men continued to stare at each other incredulously. Cady's already vivid coloring heightened with anger.

"Look here, Hardin," he expostulated, "are you telling me you've had nothing to do with the accidents at Larson's?"

"In words of one syllable, yes. Not only that but I told you the same thing a year ago when you put your dirty proposition up to me."

Cady's eyes narrowed. "Then why did you come up here today?"

"Because when I turned you down I guessed you'd bribe someone else to carry through your low-down plans. And that's still what I think!"

Cady's face was now almost apoplectic. His curses were the short scalding epithets of the low-class Britisher. "You're dead wrong, Hardin!" he said.

"I wonder if I am," Hardin replied coldly. "I didn't suspect at first—like the others I thought the accidents were due to carelessness. Then the severed cable and the mill fire removed all doubt. Last Monday one of my new loggers was almost killed because someone had been monkeying with his climbing harness."

A nasty sneer twisted Cady's lips...

"From what I hear, it would have pleased you if he had fallen, Hardin. Wasn't he Andrews, the one you had that drunken brawl with a week ago?"

Hardin's fists clenched suggestively at his sides. "Your spies tell you everything, don't they? All right, suppose I don't like Andrews?"

—it isn't because he's not a damn good logger! Beating a man up in a fair fight is quite a different thing from scheming to murder him and have it look like an accident. Or wouldn't you know about that?"

"Well, don't get your temper up, fellow. I swear to you I've had nothing to do with the 'Larson Luck.' I won't deny however that it's pleased me immensely. I've been trying to buy them out the past year and they're too damned obstinate to listen to a good proposition when they hear it."

"I don't know whether to believe you or not, Cady, but I'm telling you this: if anything else happens in our outfit I'm going to tell old Sven Larson about the bargain you had agreed to in his terms and accepted the proposition. But it wasn't Hardin and to his own amazement, Doug found he was glad.

"You'll be very foolish if you do, Hardin."

"Why?"

"Because I'll deny it. You can prove nothing and you'll simply turn their suspicion toward yourself."

Hardin cursed him in one word muttered between clenched teeth then pivoted on his heel and strode back over the dam the way he had come. Cady, chuckling, secured a fresh fly to his fishing line and began walking slowly back to the end of the lake. Doug waited until both men were out of sight before he began to move.

His brain was reeling. He still wasn't sure of Cady. If the lumberman wanted the Larson outfit badly enough and Hardin had turned him down, it was quite possible that some more enterprising lumberjack had agreed to his terms and accepted the proposition. But it wasn't Hardin and to his own amazement, Doug found he was glad.

He loped back down the hill, hoping if he made any noise, Cady would think it a deer in the underbrush. He didn't dare risk silhouetting himself against the sky by using the catwalk along the rim of the dam; instead he scrambled back over the slippery log thoroughly drenching himself. His boots, previously soaked with grease, were waterproof fortunately as his only others were steel-caulked and a logger wearing ordinary shoes at Quet's Inlet was a rare sight and evoked comment.

He walked fast but didn't spot Hardin's red and black shirt ahead of him. Evidently the boss logger had taken another trail down to the Inlet for there were no signs of him in the bunkhouse when Doug reached it.

He began to change his clothes immediately, planning to take his water-soaked breeches over to the mess shack stove to let them dry. He was shrugging into his shirt when Doug reached him.

"I'm on my way. Keep calm when the telephone rang shrilly. He picked up the receiver almost hesitantly, thinking of the last time he had answered it when it summoned him to the mill fire.

"Andrews speaking."

"Doug, this is Elsa. I need you—something terrible has happened!"

Her voice was taut with fear, verging on panic.

"Elsa, what is it?" Her frightened voice communicated itself to Doug.

"Grandfather has had an attack—his heart, I guess. He's unconscious. Everyone's out and the phone to the Inlet doesn't seem to be working."

"The trucks are all gone, Elsa. I'll start walking immediately."

"Come to the house and take the car. You can get Doc Ludlow at Quet's. I don't dare leave Grandfather alone."

"Well, don't get your temper up, fellow. I swear to you I've had nothing to do with the 'Larson Luck.' I won't deny however that it's pleased me immensely. I've been trying to buy them out the past year and they're too damned obstinate to listen to a good proposition when they hear it."

"I don't know whether to believe you or not, Cady, but I'm telling you this: if anything else happens in our outfit I'm going to tell old Sven Larson about the bargain you had agreed to in his terms and accepted the proposition. But it wasn't Hardin and to his own amazement, Doug found he was glad.

"You'll be very foolish if you do, Hardin."

"Why?"

"Because I'll deny it. You can

PILOT AVERAGES 640 MILES PER HOUR AT MUROC

Muroc, Calif., Aug. 21 (AP) — A slim, wiry maval pilot flying a trim, stub-winged experimental airplane today held the international air speed record after having bulletted four times over a three-kilometer (1.863 mile) course at an average of 640.7 miles an hour.

The mark was set with a Douglas built jet-propelled Skystreak D-558, flown by Commander Turner Foster Caldwell, Jr., 33, of Arlington, Va., a former Pacific combat pilot. After traveling at a higher speed than man had yet attained, he shrugged his trim shoulders and said:

"It was a great relief from the paper work I've been doing in Washington. It's a great day and a great ship."

The navy pilot beat the former world mark which had been set last June 19 by an army man, Col. Albert Boyd, who flew the same course at an average of 623.8 miles an hour in a Lockheed P-80-R jet plane. Boyd's flight had broken the British-held record of 616 miles per hour set by a Gloster Meteor IV plane in 1946.

Commander Caldwell, since relief from his combat duties, has been serving as assistant chief of the fighter design branch, piloted aircraft division, Bureau of Aeronautics in Washington and indicated that a Washington swivel chair rather than a pilot's seat had become a little monotonous in late months.

The tiny plane, with a wingspan of 25 feet and length of 35 feet, made four passes over the three-kilometer course, and the fastest time was recorded at 653.4 miles an hour.

Commander Caldwell said the

Expect Crowd For Featherweight Bout

Flint, Mich., Aug. 21 (AP) — The crowd won't be as big as some, but if youthful promoter Tommy Cussons' predictions ring true the boxer's "gate" for Willie Pep's featherweight title defense against home-bred Jock Leslie in Flint's Atwood stadium Friday night will be the largest Pep ever has attracted.

Cussons, the 30-year-old rookie of barely 18 months experience in ring promotions, declared today he already had banked $45,000 in approximately 7,500 advance admissions and asserted, "We'll have no trouble passing the $75,000 mark."

Flight would have been "almost impossible" without the cooperation of the army air forces, which lent its timing devices and technicians to the navy for timing the flight.

Caldwell, who was born in Narberth, Pa., and is the son of Capt. Turner Foster Caldwell, Sr., USN, ret., said he made the turns at the end of his four runs as short as possible to conserve his fuel supply of 214 gallons of kerosene, barely enough for the passes.

He made his runs at approximately 75 feet off the ground, following a black stripe on the air strip and setting his course between two clouds of green smoke marking each end of the runway.

U.S. TREASURY SURPLUS MEANS NEW TAX FIGHT

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP) — President Truman's forecast of a record-smashing treasury surplus of nearly $5,000,000,000 next June touched off a fresh Republican clamor today for tax slash in 1948.

Chairman Bridges (R-N.D.) of the Senate appropriations committee said the president's mid-year budget review estimating tax receipts this year at $41,667,000,000—$2,100,000 higher than any previous forecast—proves that the country was "robbed of a tax reduction by purely political vetoes."

Mr. Truman twice vetoed efforts of the Republican-dominated Congress earlier this year to trim individual income taxes by $4,000,000,000.

"Perhaps," Bridges declared at Fall River, Mass., "the president now will not be so determined about vetoing a tax reduction bill when it is presented to him."

But the chief executive said the 000,000 but he said the "net" saving

Jack Ferrante Looks Good Again

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Aug. 21 (AP) — Jack (Black-Jack) Ferrante, high flying Eagle end, is rapidly rounding into the shape that made him one of the most feared pass catching wingmen in the National Football league a year ago.

Coach Greasy Neale is expecting great things from Ferrante, whose end play was on the spectacular side in Eagle victories over Washington and New York last year.

Typical of the respectful comment Ferrante draws from opposing coaches were these words last season from stout Steve Owen, New York Giant coach:

"That guy never gives you a chance to sit down and get comfortable on the bench."

Owen's comment came after Ferrante scored a touchdown on a 64-yard pass play immediately following a kickoff.

Foxes are believed to mate for life.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have excess of acids in your blood, you may have miles of kidney tubes may be overworking. These tubes are the waste-removing day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits passage of acids into your blood, it may cause many annoying symptoms—headache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passage with smacking and burning sometimes shows that there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels. Take your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant dietic laxative, manufactured by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give easy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
